Description

Carnivora's green tripe is amongst the most prized on the market. As expected it is smelly and green and our pets love the stuff even if we can't stand the smell of it! Coming solely from grass fed animals, our green tripe is finely ground beef stomach and green ingesta. These unique stomachs of ruminants have four chambers that systematically break down grasses with a slew of digestive enzymes, gastric juices and amino acids.

The most beneficial component of raw green tripe is digestive enzymes and probiotics. Digestive enzymes and probiotics aid in digestion, saving the body from expending so much energy when digesting a meal. This means your dog gets the most nutritional benefit from his meals. Digestive enzymes also purify and cleanse the blood and remove toxins, parasites and fungus. They also improve metabolism, hormonal function and boost the immune system.

Green tripe may be fed once a day, several times per week or not at all; fed alone or mixed with whole animal or beef offal patties.
